Hi Anne

How about this?

I first joined RSVP around 3 years ago when I was 43 . I had 2 teenage daughters , a demanding job and a pretty decent social life but it was largely full of couples where I always made the numbers odd. I didn't really know what to expect but I was in fact very lucky as on only my third date I met someone special who I spent the next 2 years with. When that relationship came to its natural end I rejoined earlier this year and discovered the social side of RSVP. This year I have been on activity days involving cycling and quadbiking. I have also been to meals out and the summer ball. I have met some fabulous people and have had lots of laughs. My diary has been full of interesting things to do. In fact quite by chance I have recently met someone new and am about to put my membership on hold again . But part of me will miss the RSVP events. I also know that if things don't work with this new relationship I can fall back on RSVP to fill my social life and who knows possibly find me love for a second time. I can't recommend it highly enough for single people who want to get out there and make things happen. Anne and her team provide an excellent service.
